

Still Running

Words and Music by
Joel Peckham

EAT Poems #28

Tracks

1.

How to Listen 02:59

2.

Still Running 03:28

3.

Any Moonwalker Can Tell You 04:31

4.

Virtual Sermon 04:57

5.

This Year's Child 03:55

6.

The Last 25 (bonus track) 03:19

7.

Wow! Signal 04:58

8.

The Wave 06:12

CREDITS

Poetry and music by Joel Peckham.

All instruments and vocals are played by Joel Peckham with the exception of the percussion on “Still Running,” which is played by Reuben Ambat. All compositions are original, except for the basic melody of “The Last 25” (bonus track) which is a loose cover of “25 Miles” by Edwin Starr (Bristol, Faqua, Starr).

Edited and produced by Mark Ari

Assistant editor, Natasha Kane

Cover image by Bianca Rivetti Burattini

Cover design by Joel Peckham

Acknowledgements

Grateful acknowledgment is given to the various literary journals where these poems were originally published, often in different forms and with different arrangements.

The Autoethnographer: “The Wave” (text and audio)

Open: Journal of Arts and Literature: “The Last 25”

The Mud Season Review: “Wow! Signal” (text only)

Nimrod: “Still Running,” “Virtual Sermon,” and “This Year’s Child” (text only)

Poetry Onl.: “Any Moonwalker Can Tell You” (text and audio)

“Wow! Signal” also appears in the chapbook, MUCH (Uncollected Press, 2021).

Grateful acknowledgment is also given to the many musicians, poets, writers and friends who have provided feedback on these pieces, including Jared Allen, Charlie Farmer, Ryan Faulkner, Julia Grimmet,, Lily Jurskis Nicole Lawrence, Robert Pack, Bethany Woods, Davis McGraw, Rachael Peckham, Darius Atefat-Peckham, Marc Jacobs, Kayla Queen-Dyer, John Salvage, and Robert Vivian.

